The Human Development and Social Policy Program and the Multidisciplinary Program in Education Sciences present:

SEAN REARDON
Professor, Poverty and Inequality in Education
Stanford University

The Geography of Racial/Ethnic Academic Achievement Inequality

Tuesday, November 3, 2015
12:30 – 1:45 pm
Annenberg Hall, Room 303

Sean Reardon is the endowed Professor of Poverty and Inequality in Education and Professor (by courtesy) of Sociology at Stanford University. His research focuses on the causes, patterns, trends, and consequences of social and educational inequality, the effects of educational policy on educational and social inequality, and applied statistical methods for educational research. In addition, he develops methods of measuring social and educational inequality (including the measurement of segregation and achievement gaps) and methods of causal inference in educational and social science research. Sean received his doctorate in education in 1997 from Harvard University. He is a member of the National Academy of Education, and has been a recipient of a William T. Grant Foundation Scholar Award, a Carnegie Scholar Award, and a National Academy of Education Postdoctoral Fellowship.